Severn Vale School provides an education for all and “challenges all to succeed”, acknowledging that the society within which we live is enriched by the ethnic diversity, culture, language and faith of its citizens. The National Curriculum encourages schools to:

“Prepare all pupils for life where they will meet, live and work with people of different cultures, religions, languages and ethnic back grounds”

2. Aims and Values

Severn Vale School will strive to ensure that the culture and ethos of the school are such that, whatever the heritage and origins of members of the school community, everyone is equally valued and treats one another with respect. We expect all students and staff to apply our core values of Courtesy, Compassion, Honesty, Integrity and Perseverance, and apply the Golden Rule; treat others as you would like to be treated yourself.

Students should be provided with the opportunity to experience, understand and celebrate diversity. Each individual is valued and respected for who they are irrespective of age, race, ability, beliefs, status or social background.

We recognise:

- The inclusive nature of the National Curriculum and the opportunities that Citizenship and every subject area presents for encouraging “respect of diversity”
- The importance of valuing festivals from diverse faiths
- That minority ethnic groups include Gypsy Travellers, Refugees and Asylum-seekers and less visible minority groups e.g. Irish.
- The important contribution immigrants and their descendants have made to Britain
- The importance of Global Citizenship
- The importance of strong home/school and wider community links
- Our duty under the Race Relations (Amendment Act 2000) to promote race equality actively
- The recommendations of the inquiry into the death of Stephen Lawrence:
“That Local Authorities and school governors have the duty to create and implement strategies in school to prevent and address racism” (Recommendation 68)

The school is wholly committed to eliminating unlawful racial discrimination and to promoting equal opportunities and good race relations in all areas of school life.

We are mindful of our legal responsibilities, but our commitment is based not upon legal obligation but on a conviction that valuing the individual, celebrating diversity and unlocking the potential of all learners is the very essence of education.
